

What I'll Remember Most

Over the Rhine

The saddest songs are the happiest

The hardest truths are the easiest

Put yourself to the test and tell me if you still need me

And I will swallow these words and see if I can still believe

The biggest lies are the little ones

When the look in your eyes is the distant one

Angel or demon, you know that they can share the same bed

I've laid awake so long, I've got them both inside my head

This is what I'll remember most about dying

So many moments like ghosts slipping through my hands in vain

You were 80% angel, 10% demon, the rest was

hard to explain

This American dream may be poisonous, violence is contagious

Crowded or empty, I walk these city streets alone

Whoever brought me here is gonna have to take me home

This is what I'll remember most about dying

Loading these moments like a gun hoping to kill the pain

You were 80% angel, 10% demon, the rest was hard to explain

This is what I'll remember most about dying

So many moments like ghosts slipping through my hands in vain

You were 80% angel, 10% demon, the rest was

hard to explain

You were 80% angel, 10% demon, the rest was hard to explain
