Beyond the Blue

Cheryl Gunn

I was thinking today if you would remember you choose to remember I see you so near I hear your voice calling what you left me out there in the cold days fading away I was thinking today if you would surrender to feelings so sudden too soon the secrets we knew it calls me from these pages to you beyond the blue,

I'd still wait for the moment still wait for the moment that you tried deserting and if given the choice when I could have a hero like you days fading away but I see you so clear I hear your voice calling it calls me from these pages to you

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/