

Automatic

Burnham

I'm pretty sure that you're not good for me but I like it
I know that you know what you do to me and everyone else in the room You're professional at breaking hearts
It's so automatic for you It's like there's a switch that makes you start
You couldn't turn it off if you wanted to Step into the room and just press play
It's like they step into the room and just press play No one has to tell you what to do, it's automatic
You don't even have to make a move, it's automatic
Everybody wants to be with you
It's like you just press play, like you just press play And you're a heartbreaker and you're a mind eraser
It's so automatic with you
I know I should leave but I just can't seem to walk away
I can't seem to walk away You could care less about what you do to me but you like it
It's easy to see you're makin' a fool of me, there's nothing that I can do
You're professional at breaking hearts
It's so automatic for you I don't know why you make it so hard
For someone to love you
Step into the room and just press you
Like you step into the room and just press play No one has to tell you what to do, it's automatic
You don't even have to make a move, it's automatic
Everybody wants to be with you,
It's like you just press play, like you just press play And you're a heartbreaker and you're a mind eraser
It's so automatic with you
I know I should leave but I just can't seem to walk away
I can't seem to walk away You need to let your feelings take control
Just switch it into manual
You're keeping your heart where I can't have it
You're so automatic No one has to tell you what to do, it's automatic
You don't even have to make a move, it's automatic
Everybody wants to be with you
It's like you just press play, like you just press play And you're a heartbreaker and you're a mind eraser
It's so automatic with you
I know I should leave but I just can't seem to walk away
But I can't seem to walk away
