Crimson Deep

Tarja

Sometimes I see the pulse numb I feel, so unreal.

Blood on my lips I taste the heavy lead.

What can I find behind the mirror,

I'll never know.

Who s the reflection within? Should I frame for you the other world? Another world?

I've heard the voices of Elysium.

The scent of a sudden wish,

never there, everywhere.

Read me the space in-between. Sharp is the edge of all discovery, now I see.

A scar without suffering, impossible.

I'll wait until my last day

with no shame.

Who's to blame?

Shaping the signs left for me.Come to me

I cried

I need you.

I am seeking the gates unfold inside

my lost soul

in the dark. Far beneath my breath

I'm burning at my core.

Show me how

let me see beyond

I will find

my crimson deep
