

The Light

Brewer & Shipley

The light within me shineth, the life within me flows
Iâ€™ll sing a song of the kingdom and hope the spirit grows

There was a man from midnight who lived while on the road
A light was his possession it was a heavy load
He wrapped it all in color but left the binding free
For those who felt the hunger and truly longed to see

The rumor soon did travel, the winds they did not fail
And all across the country, the brightness did prevail
The people they did gather their thankfulness to bring
But for the silent witness who did not see a thing

Come all you sons and daughters who make the road your life
Who try and live the freedom to rise above this strife
Oh, find the way in wisdom the truth that does not lie
The change is many colors in the beholderâ€™s eye

The light within me shineth, and the life within me flows
Iâ€™ll sing a song of the kingdom and hope the spirit grows
Iâ€™ll sing a song of the kingdom
