

Dust

The Mud Howlers

Yeah there's an earth below us and there's a sky above Life is so full of questions infinite sea of temptations Along my human journey the path unfolds itself
And as my time gets shorter I come to understand That someday all of us will be dust and our souls will travel beyond time and space and someday all of us will be dust Into the spirit dimension away from physical creation Where there's no evil intentions divine powers in phase Where there are no religions Only one love and grace And someday all of us will be dust
And our souls will travel beyond time and space
And someday all of us will be dust To be the light and wind on a sunny day
To be rain that fall on a cloudy day
And be the gentle breeze on a night.
