

Not Running Anymore

Bon Jovi

Bless me father I have sinned,
I'm not sure where to begin.
I won't name names or where I've been,
But I've been there and back again.
No Hail Marys will save me,
You learned to live with memories,
Here, slip this sinner up your sleeve,
Just stay inside until I leave. I've been running, always running
Never have both feet on the floor.
I've been running, always running,
Now I'm not running any more... The hands of time may tick no more
Let darkness fall upon this door
No waves will wash up on this shore
I won the fight but lost the war. I've been running, always running
Never had both feet on the floor
And I've been running, always running
Now I ain't running anymore.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>