

The Last Night

Casey McQuillen

He walks into the room
My heart's a lead balloon
Must you leave so soon?
You loved me once in a blue moon

See I'm trying fall in love again
But it's just not working out
The rain seems to have no clouds
It just keeps falling right on down

And I'm trying to fall in love again
But it's just not going right
Every time he's in my sight
It's hard to remember the last night

I used to be in love
But it was not enough
Do I know as much
Not to be so tough?

I begged just leave me be
Our love is history
You cast it to the sea
The night I became a memory

See I'm trying fall in love again
But it's just not working out
The rain seems to have no clouds
It just keeps falling right on down

And I'm trying to fall in love again
But it's just not going right
Every time he's in my sight
It's hard to remember the last night

There's nothing worse
Than looking him in the eye
And knowing you
Have to say goodbye

All he is your heart and your soul
All you need is all you should let go
All you want to do is hold him tight
When he's there your whole world feels right
And you know you can feel goodbye
When you know it's the last night

See I'm trying fall in love again
But it's just not working out
The rain seems to have no clouds
It just keeps falling right on down

And I'm trying to fall in love again
But it's just not going right
Every time he's in my sight
It's hard to remember the last night
