

Head On Collision (This Disaster: Live in London)

New Found Glory

I've been waiting for a good day
I've been holding back long enough
I've been hurting to tell you some things It's not the falling of the temperature
That's making all our bones run cold
It's the breeze you make
The presence felt when you're around me And it feels like
I'm at an all-time low [Chorus]
Slightly bruised and broken
From our head on collision
I've never seen this side of you
Another tragic case of feeling
Bruised and broken
From our head on collision
I've never seen this side of you
Another tragic case And I'm still Waiting for a good day
I think I've held this long enough
I think it's safe to tell you some things It's not just what you say to people
And it's not the way you look at me
It's the way you present yourself
For all your worst critics to see And it feels like
I'm at an all-time low [Chorus] Then you were gone
(You were gone)
All this time
You just didn't know it yet
(You were gone)
All this time
You just didn't know it yet
You were gone And it feels like
(Feels like)
I'm at an all-time low [Chorus] Another tragic case of feeling
(Bruised and broken)
Another tragic case and I've been
(Still waiting for a good day)
Still waiting for a good day
