Vanessa Carlton

Some people live in a house on a hill
And wish they were someplace else
There's nobody there when the evening is still Secrets with no one to tell
And some I have known have a ship where they sleep
With sounds of rocks on the coast
They sail over oceans, five fathoms deep
They can't find what they want the most
And even now when I'm alone
I've always known with you I am home
Some live in towns, cardboard shack on concrete
All blustered and bustling life
They search for the color you can never quite see
'Cause it's all white on white
And even now when I'm alone
I've always known with you I am home
And even now when I'm alone
I've always known with you I am home
For me it's a glance and the smile on your face
The touch of your hands, an honest embrace
For where I lay, it's you I keep
This changing world might fall asleep
With you all I know is I'm coming home, coming home
