Infinity Road

Keepsake

on this endless journey I carry on... miles away we lay and i wonder how much longer i must wait until i reach my dreams this darkness that awaits me and as i travel down this endless road my mind tells me be careful what you see my own flesh and blood now determines my own fate but you've made me now free me of these hardships let me be and ill bring you back to your house on the farm where you can learn lifes lessons once more now i feel your hand resting on my shoulders as you comfort me and welcome me to your world take my keys because as you can see im tired of this trip just hold me close as i might leave
