

A.M. Amnesia

Failure

You're a flash of light, a transient flare
You can't be deserted by what was never there
You were born on the bottom of the ocean
You don't get to brag about your drowning
A.M. amnesia carries us along
Our leader has no switch, this era has no song
This old sunset looks so lost stretched across your eyes
You are someone else's every time you rise
A wash in your sweetness, the dream bashed in my head
There is nothing left to forget
A.M. amnesia carries us away
This feeling has no switch, this absence has no sway
The space falls in, the space falls out
The space comes in, the space goes out
She's got exactly the same dream
Trading her memories for machines
She breaks the circuits in your brain
She speaks, her fingers drop like rain
You turn it on
You turn it on
A.M. amnesia carries us along
Just put your mind away and carry us along
The space falls in, the space falls out
The space comes in, the space goes out
