Crash and Burn

Thomas Rhett

So I guess it's over baby and dÃ©jÃ vu again
Who'd have thought that time don't stop and Somehow girl, the world keeps spinning and I guess I've turned myself into a solitary man
Ain't like I'm the only one that's in the shoes
That I amDo you hear that?
I'm right back
At the sound of lonely calling
Do you hear that?
It's where I'm at
It's the sound of teardrops falling down, down
A slamming door and a lesson learned
I let another lover crash and burnI know that it might sound jaded
And I have to say
I think love is overrated
But I don't like throwing it awayI know you could probably tell me
Right where I went wrong
Some guys can't have all the luck
If others don't sing sad songsDo you hear that?
I'm right back
At the sound of lonely calling
Do you hear that?
It's where I'm at
It's the sound of teardrops falling down, down
A slamming door and a lesson learned
I let another lover crash and burn, that's rightAnother lover
Another lover crash and burn
Ooh yeahDo you hear that?
I'm right back
At the sound of lonely calling
Do you hear that?
It's where I'm at
It's the sound of teardrops falling down, down
A slamming door and a lesson learned
I let another lover crash and burn, yeah
I let another lover crash and burnMhm
Mhm

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/