Green, it's never enough
Different shades bought and sold, illusions control
Extortion incestGreed, it's never enough
They're building us up while they're tearing us down
On their hands is the blood of the ones who had made themPraise them
Save them
Break themEyes, they watch from inside
So in God do we trust?
Paranoid? Not enough
Do you think that it's near?
Yes I do, I can feel itYou can't believe in them or what they say
Their colors change
We should have never let them get away
My brothersLies, his story, our past
A lesson not learned, never changed, never learned
Passing on one by one to the lost generationYou can't believe in them or what they say
Their colors change
We should have never let them get away
My brothersSave them
Praise them
Break them
True colors
