Harrison Bergeron

Snapcase

now i can walk through those through those fires that burn in the path of my dreams my soul is savior
my soul is my life
my autonomy
you tried to steal it
you had me shut down
but I'm alive since I have found faith moves
faith moves the mountains as fear runs into...
the ocean deep
take me far away from standing in my own way a blinded coward
but now I'll follow my lead... learn to walk beyond those who have walked all walked all over you so I have found my voice through perserverence and left the choice to speak those worlds that have gone unsaid
