

Everyone to Know

Bethany Dillon

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

Here we go
Let in the light from my window
Say goodbye to my sorrow
And hello new day My soul needed a rescue
A hero, it had to be You
I know You've changed everything So I want everyone to know
Everyone to know
I want to tell the world about Your love I've thrown years away
And every chance to change
It took so much to see my pride I've thrown punches in the air
Chased after love that wasn't there
I know only You satisfy I want everyone to know
Everyone to know
I want to tell the world about Your love Yeah, I want everyone to know
Everyone to know
I want to tell the world about Your love To all the brokenhearted
The crippled and the weak
We are all invited to taste and see To all of those who are searching
Come find what you seek
It is the truth that we all
Truth that we all need Everyone to know
Everyone to know
I want to tell the world about Your love Yeah, I want everyone to know
Everyone to know
I want to tell the world about Your love Yeah, I want everyone to know
Everyone to know
I want to tell the world about Your love Yeah, I want everyone to know
Everyone to know
I want to tell the world about Your love I want to tell the world about Your love
I want to tell the world about Your love

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>