just fine

Black Ribbons

You say that we need to talk, but you ain't said a word
But trust me baby, it's all crystal clear
You doing anything and everything to dance around the hurt
Trying hard, muster up a tear
But save yourself the trouble, boy
Don't go wasting your time like you're wasting mine
I don't need your reasons why
Don't you worry your pretty little head about me
I'll be just fine
Oh, I'll be just fine
You need some time, you need some space, and I deserve much more
You say you've changed, we're in a different place
Yeah, it's not me and blah, blah, blah, I've heard it all before
So before you go and throw your breath away
Save yourself the trouble, boy
Don't go wasting your time like you're wasting mine
I don't need your reasons why
Don't you worry your pretty little head about me
I'll be just fine
This time, when you walk out the door, it won't be like it was before
When you wake up and wanna change your mind
So, save yourself the trouble, boy
Don't go wasting your time like you're wasting mine
I don't need your reasons why
Don't you worry your pretty little head about me, no
Don't you worry your pretty little head about me
I'll be just fine
Oh, I'll be just fine
