And Then Some

Dallas Smith

Girl, I still remember
We were 17 and full of dreams we knew would all come true
Our first days start forever
Like a good old song, when you turn it on it always feels brand new and you said 'Have we fallen too fast, is it too good to last?'

Then I promised you

I will be the one to save you
When you got nowhere to run
And whenever this world breaks you
I'll be there to pick you up
If your feeling desperation
And your faith is all but gone
I will give you my last breath so you can carry on
I love you that much, and then some

Here we are together
On an autumn day at your mommas place
Back in your hometown
This love can last forever
I can only say what I'm gonna say with one knee on the ground

'Make me a better man, take ahold of my hand
Honey I promise you'

I will be the one to save you
When you got nowhere to run
And whenever this world breaks you
I'll be there to pick you up
If your feeling desperation
And your faith is all but gone
I will give you my last breath so you can carry on
I love you that much, and then some

It just gets better and better with every day
One things for certain, I'll always say

I will be the one to save you
When you got nowhere to run

And whenever this world breaks you
I'll be there to pick you up
When your feeling desperation
And your faith is all but gone
I will give you my last breath so you can carry on
I love you that much, and then some

Oh and then some..
It just gets better and better with every day...

Lyrics submitted by Emilia Ulmer.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/