No Room to Rust

Brother Hawk

Well I'll only let you down if everything's all that you want from me now, cause I ain't got it to lay down.
Cause you've ruined one too many nights with meaningless fights, and worn me to the bone, and I don't have the right to tell you how it ought to go. Where I once held a red hot fire is only ash and coal, cause our love's gone cold.
See I'm tryin to let you go, it's hard when you're all I know anymore, cause I can't seem to find the door.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/