The Jonah

King Diamond

After 7 years on a dusty shelf
The book seemed unreal
For 7 years in an ancient rhyme
The fate of a girl was sealedIn the attic, I was searching by the moonlight
What would I find

Old and gray from dust, I felt it staring back Oh, that bookYellow pages caught my eyes, so unreal

Through the dust of time

In an ancient rhyme, the truth had been sealed

On a broken shelf it would all be revealed

It had been there for years

And no one ever knewNow break the spell and free the girl

From the candle of fate

Look at the flame and say the rhyme

The end is near, no more pain, ah you're freeAs the candle melts away, the spirit of the candle girl Emerges from the flame, she doesn't seem the same

> With a smile on her face She starts to speakHear my story
