Worries

Jimike

If you had a cadillac you'd worry about the gas if you could tell the future you'd just worry about the past and if you had a lawyer you'd worry about who to sue and if you had a penis you'd worry about who to screw but i guess that's you with all the worries in the world i guess that's you with all the worries in the world if you married a millionnaire you'd worry about his stock and if you worked in radio you'd worry about all the rock and if you had a record out you'd worry will it sell and though you were in heaven you'd still worry about hell but i guess thats you with all the worries in the world

i guess thats you with all the worries in the world try to ease your mind try to calm down and relax if i could solve your problems then i'd send you a fax i really try to help you out but now i've given up you spend your time worrying and you really need to stop
but i guess thats you with all the worries in the world
i guess thats you with all the worries in the world
i guess thats you with all the worries in the world
i guess thats you with all the worries in the world

Lyrics powered by lyrics.tancode.com written by KRISTJANSSON, GISLI Lyrics Â© EMI Music Publishing

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/