Something Needs To Change

Close Your Eyes

Oh that these waves of uncertainty would drown me and take me to my grave
I am broken for this cause
Im tired of screaming words of hope and grace
Im unmoved, unstirred, unwavering
Break these chains and set this captive free

Does anyone have the heart to stand with me?
I could never do this on my own
I stand by and watch my family slowly fall apart
If faith can cause the blind to see why cant it pick up my brothers and sisters who have fallen down to the ground?
If there is no love then hope can never be found

Is this worth fighting for?
I am on my knees; I accept defeat
Is there hope for us?

How much love will we know to show if we have no love for ourselves?
It makes me sick to think that you and I live this way
How much love will we know to show if we have no love for ourselves?
It makes me sick to think that you and I live in apathy

Is this worth fighting for?
I am on my knees; I accept defeat
Is there hope for us?

I know its worth fighting for
I am on my knees, I cant accept defeat
There is hope for us!
Even in our darkest days and when it seems that weve lost our way and it seems
There is hope, there is hope!
There is a reason why we lift out hands and sing

Its wrong to say our hearts wont change as long as You are here
Its wrong to say our hearts wont change as long as You are here
Its wrong to say our hearts wont change as long as You are
Its wrong to say our hearts wont change as long as You are

Who will be the hands and feet?
Who will go share this love with me?

Who will be the hands and feet?

Who will be the hands and feet?
Who will go share this love with me?
Who will be the hands and feet of Jesus?

Lyrics submitted by Phillip.

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/