

Tried to Please Her

Reckless Sleepers

Iâ€™m on a hundred twenty third street
All this wait for just one drink
She will ask me "Are you mad now?"
I will say "What do you think?"
Just the fact I've come this far Makes me want to worry
This will be my last trial
Her last chance to be my jury because

I tried to please her
I tried to please her
I tried and I tried
and I tried and I tried to please her yeah

There's always a ghost behind her Pours his shadow on our lives Met him only for a moment
But man his face
could mesmerize

Now is he in town?
Is he out?
Will he see us kissing?
Will I know if what he took forever will be missing?
because

I tried to please her
I tried to please her
I tried and I tried
and I tried and I tried
to please her yeah

See that train
that's rumbling towards us

Think I'm gonna take that ride
When that train blasts past You better move ahead or choose your side
'cause no one stands
love's middle ground without any sorrow

Yeah, she read my past but when today becomes tomorrow I'll know

I tried to please her
I tried to please her
I tried and I tried
and I tried and I tried
to please her yeah

Lyrics Submitted by Richard Gagnon

Lyrics provided by <https://damnllyrics.com/>