

Next Go 'round

Old Crow Medicine Show

When the summer is come and gone as the leaves fall on the lawn

I think of how pleasures pass me bye

And I am thinking of my old home and the love I left behind

No, I couldn't I go back there if I try

On my next go 'round

Gonna keep it to the dreams we new before I broke them down

Gonna take your hand, gonna be the man who pulls you from the ground

I won't let you down on my next go 'round

We were standing on the edges of a thousand burning bridges

Sifting through the ashes every day

What we thought was never ending now is nothing more than a memory

The way things were before I lost my way

On my next go 'round

Gonna keep it to the dreams we new before I broke them down

Gonna take your hand, gonna be the man who pulls you from the ground

I won't let you down on my next go 'round

Now the winds are blowing steady, my bags they're awful heavy

I wish that I could stop and turn around

But there are no second chances in a world of circumstances

Oh, in this life you don't get no next go 'round

On my next go 'round, gonna start again

Gonna let you in, lay our burdens down

Gonna be the one never turnin' 'round, I'll always be around

I won't let you down on my next go 'round

I won't let you down on my next go 'round
