

Springfield Mountain

Woody Guthrie

On Springfield Mountain there did dwell

A lovely youth I knowed him well Too roo de nay, too roo de noo This lovely youth one day did go Down to the meadow for to mow Too roo de nay, too roo de noo He scarce had mowed quite round the field
When a cruel serpent bit his heel Too roo de nay, too roo de noo They took him home to Molly dear
Which made him feel so very queer Too roo de nay, too roo de noo Now Molly had two ruby lips
With which the poison she did sip Too roo de nay, too roo de noo Now Molly had a rotting tooth
And so the poison killed them both
