All the King's Horses

Lynn Anderson

Look at the walls crumble down look at your castle laying on the ground
And I'm all in pieces just looking around
And all the love that once was sweet now just ashes neath my feet
And all the king's horses and all the king's men
Could never put me back together again
I need you now like I needed you then and it's gonna take your love for me to mendI was your princess on a throne you were my hero brave and strong
Lord knows I'm nothing now that you're gone
And where's the fairy tale we knew the happy ending for me and you
And all the king's horses...
And all the king's horses...

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/