

The Conductor

AFI

Drop like the needle
Today I felt it drain (felt it drain)
I'll climb back up to you
On ladders of the rain (of the rain) Break them down, shake their frail beliefs
I'll show them, show them a believer
Three hundred thousand amps
And I'm your warm receiver When they kill the lights
You'll remain my conductor
And if they dare to drain your life
I'll become your conductor
Don't cut the connection Bleed into black clouds
And I will lick them clean
Turn to a tourniquet
And cinch yourself to me Strike down now, shake their frail beliefs
And make them newborn believers
Three hundred thousand amps
And I'm your warm receiver When they kill the lights
You'll remain my conductor
And if they dare to drain your life
I'll become your conductor When they kill the lights
You'll remain my conductor
You'll remain my conductor
You'll remain my conductor
