Beacons

Shores

I want to swim, back to
I want to swim, back to you
To youBut the guilt and the sin (Oh God, oh God)
Is dragging me, me (Please save me, save me)
But the guilt, but the guilt (Oh God, oh God)
Is dragging me, out to sea (Please save me, save me)I once stood higher, than the cliffs above me
But the waves crashed over me
And buried me underI want to swim, back to
I want to swim, back to you
To youFor years I lay under the sea (Under the sea)
Searching for you (For you)Give me your hand
Give me your hand
Give me your handIt's my only beacon to bring me home (To bring me home)
Back to your comforting arms
A place I put so many thoughts and trust
