

Youâ€™re Free Now (feat. Sarah Jarosz)

Anthony da Costa

Looking back on the night
I know that I was wasted
I was harboring a feeling
A love that I had tasted

Bittersweet Symphony was playing overhead
And a part of me was dead
A part you never knew
The things we'd never do
It seems to me you're free now

Looking back on the day
I never should have called back
It seemed easy at the time
I guess you could call it that

The rain came softly, but it was just enough
So we called each other's bluff
The past we did not know
The places we would go
It seems to me you're free now

Looking back
It makes for a story
Two bodies crashed together
In a burst of glory

I drive back home
Nights alone
It's getting better all the time
All the time
All the time
All the time
All the time
