

Everything's Brown

Jack Off Jill

Hello I'm here to invite you
To things you cannot feel and if you push me too far
You might believe I'm realThe blood stain on your sweater
It says to cheat and steal
Or do you think it better
To obsess and not revealI know your secret
It scrapes you way down
Everything was clean
Now everything's brownDon't try to hide it Although you cannot feel
What you are is something that I won't revealHello I'm here to invite you To things you cannot feel
and if you fall apart
You might just think I'm realYou can't erase what you are So don't even try and how can I be truthful
When everything I am is a lieI know your secret
It scrapes you way down
Everything came clean
Now everything's brownDon't try to hide it
It's what you think and feel
When it falls apart
I hope I won't revealHello I'm here to invite you
To things you cannot feel
and if you fall apart
You might just think I'm real real, real, real
You think I'm not real

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>