Underwhelmed

Quench

Keep expecting so much
Seeing little in return
Desperate for the deeper moments
Begin to see them slowly burning down
I see them slowly burning downNeeding meaning in this Heavy day I seem to bear
Everything comes into question
Lessons learned just seem to tear apart
They seem to tear apartAnd I am underwhelmed again
Wanting more than you are giving
Underwhelmed again
Is there more that I am seeingYou promised me so much when
We began to walk this way
You said we'd change the world together
But now it seems we're nowhere further on
It seems we're nowhere further onThere must be more
Much more than this
Please show me moreAt the lowest low now
Thinking I should can it all
Needing breakthrough from the nothing
But remembering the call
Where it really started
Hearing fresh your voice again
Something calling me to press on Seeing you again
I'm bowing down
I'm bowing downAnd I am overwhelmed again
I hear your voice still calling for me
Overwhelmed again
Remembering all you've made for me
Overwhelmed again
Not deserving all you're giving
Overwhelmed again
Another chance at truly living

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/