

Pain (Live Version)

Reamonn

All these words rushing round inside my head
All these thoughts we held so close and still we never said All these dreams I can't believe, I would do for you
Holding on is there anything left to lose Something beautiful about you, just can't explain
Found it in the rain, I found it in the rain So much pain, so much pain is coming down
Will you hold me close again, hold me close again So much pain, so much pain is coming down
Will you hold me close again, hold me close again I cannot understand, I tried so hard to understand
All this love I have for you, forever and a day All these words don't mean much, when we turn our backs away
All these thoughts will be crushed if there's nothing left to say I will not remain silenced by the claim that it hurts
I will fight for love, I will fight for what it once was Something beautiful about you, just can't explain
Found it in the rain, found it in the rain So much pain, so much pain is coming down
Will you hold me close again, hold me close again So much pain, so much pain is coming down
Will you hold me close again, hold me close again So much pain, so much pain is coming down
Will you hold me close again, hold me close again
