

Love Loss Hope Repeat

Carbon Leaf

Take a walk down town and dream with me
We'll walk the parks and the empty streets
You know the seasons oughta be
Love, loss, hope, repeat We're alone in a crowded room
Silhouetted in and ready to bloom
You know the seasons oughta be
Love, loss, hope, repeat
Love, loss, hope, repeat And when the high wind blows everything
Like the lion attacking the spring
I love you more than I'll ever let on
And that's a fault of mine I'm workin' on
I'm workin' on Take a walk down town Remember the days that would never end
So much time you couldn't comprehend
When the sun so slow to fade
And tomorrow was more of the same And the easiest April rain
Was enough to ignite the flame
And you'd fade out with a grin
With the company you were in And when the high wind blows everything
Like the lion attacking the spring
I love you more than I'll ever let on
And that's a fault of mine I'm workin' on
I'm workin' on And when the sky's a dusky hue
And everything is bottle blue
I love you more than I ever let on
And that's a fault of mine I'm workin' on
I'm workin' on Take a walk down town And jump the train line down
And then turn around at the edge of town
Or continue down to the other side
And ride, and ride till we see our lives And see our lives from outside our city walls
And darkened halls, and the lonely calls
And when we turn around, and head back in Everything will be new again, everything will be new And when the high wind blows everything
Like the lion attacking the spring
I love you more than I'll ever let on
And that's a fault of mine I'm workin' on
I'm workin' on And when the sky's a dusky hue
And everything is bottle blue
I love you more than I ever let on
And that's a fault of mine I m workin' on

I'm workin' onTake a walk down town
