Hi Hey There Hello

The Mowgli's

Oh well Hi, Hey there, Hello.
Have you got some place to go?
Ive got some time and I would love to take you out.
Ive got two nickels to my name.
Well hey, my story sounds the same but Ill find some way to show you what lifes all about.
Oh we could take a walk downtown.
No, lets search for higher ground.
Well count the stars, and clouds and howl at the moon.
I hear the rich folks come here too, cause its such a lovely view and when the sun decides to rise itll be too soon.
Oooh.
Oh my blood may run red but the thoughts in my head, they are blue. They are purple. They are gold.
And though there may come a day where my hair it turns grey, but my soul, oh, my soul, will never grow old.
See Im not skin and bones.
I am sunshine and snow on this everchanging earth that we know.
Ill melt into a stream. I will glisten and gleam.
Ill float on but Ill never grow old.
Ill float on but Ill never grow old.
Oooh.
Oh well Hi, Hey there, Hello.
Have you got some place to go?
Ive got some time and I would love to take you out.
Ive got two nickels to my name.
Well hey, my story sounds the same but Ill find some way to show you what lifes all about.
Oooh.
Oh well Hi, Hey there, Hello.
Have you got some place to go?
Ive got some time and I would love to take you out.
