Star-Crossed Enemies

ICE NINE KILLS

Here, we're stuck in the spotlight
We should make like shadows and disappear
Silhouettes in the sunset
Our final curtain call is drawing nearIf parting is such sweet sorrow
To hell with waiting for tomorrow
Hand in hand like we planned
As the night takes us awayAnd I hope when they find me and you
In this tomb built for two
They get the glory for the end of our story
And take their fucking bowsSo remember us, the soon dearly departed
And how the war our fathers started
Sealed the fate of star-crossed enemiesYou and I both know that death won't matter
Bring on the poison and the dagger
They set the stage for tragedyDon't scream, 'cause the show must go on Though our fairytale is ripping at the seams
But love doesn't have to be
Something that we hide behind the scenesIf parting is such sweet sorrow
To hell with waiting for tomorrow
Side by side when we die
As the night takes us awayAnd I hope when they find me and you
In this tomb built for two
They get the glory for the end of our story
And take their fucking bowsSo remember us, the soon dearly departed
And how the war our fathers started
Sealed the fate of star-crossed enemies
