

Deathblow

Carnal Forge

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

Down here inside the walls of death
nobody can hear your screams but me
who the fuck are you to judge me

I am just killing a bastard that deserves to die
For what you did there is a price
and you will pay with your fucking life
There is no excuse for your crimes you will feel the pain equal to a thousand deaths
For what you did there is a price
and you will pay with your fucking life
I knock you out from the face of the earth
I will give you an overdose of my most painful cure
Time after time I see myself die, what a spectacular sight my sweet end of life
For what you did there is a price
and you will pay with your fucking life
I knock you out from the face of the earth

I will give you an overdose of my most painful cure
You may think I have no conscience, but mine is as clean as ice,

when I strike for the first time you're bound to die
You may think I have no conscience, but mine is as clean as ice,
when I strike for the first time you're bound to die
Down here inside the walls of death
nobody can hear your screams but me
who the fuck are you to judge me

I am just killing a bastard that deserves to die
For what you did there is a price
and you will pay with your fucking life
I knock you out from the face of the earth
I will give you an overdose of my most painful cure
You may think I have no conscience, but mine is as clean as
ice,

when I strike for the first time you're bound to die
You may think I have no conscience, but mine is as clean as ice,
when I strike for the first time you're bound to die
