

Raphael

Cocorosie

Deep inside my heart and its splintered at its core
Molden curdle of milken ^ puddle
Dreams of warm breasts settling in my mouth
To be my spouse, make a babe and a house
Apple tree, drunken brawl domestically
A Dirty dog, a dusty pawed bloody nose, rose embroidered sheets
Dangle like women in the breeze, on a line above the yard
In my heart a flower dies slow like a campfire covered
In piss mellows like snow fall
Mellows like snow fall

Raphael you know just how
To take me in the swimming pool
Like a child being baptized
Beneath the starry sky we lie
Drowning in your watery thighs
Luscious eyes
You a teenage player
In my heart an island sinks slow
Tears fall in the kitchen sink O
Don't speak I can hear you
Don't speak I can hear you
