Proud To Be Part Of These Days

Tingsek

I sit and wonder what's taking them so long
Or is the time frame I use so wrong
They should have been here
But no one has shown but their absence
Became the reason for this songI'm in love with the making of something to be Something truthfully from within me
I love the feeling of total expression
The falling down, the no control, the filling a holeI don't never wanna change my ways
The freedom we've created
I am proud to be a part of these days
Never underestimate itWell, maybe I have to slow down a little
I know I really should
But it takes a lot more than I thought it wouldThere's always something
I think I need to do just to survive
In order to keep the fire in me alive
