

Malibu Rum

The Wooden Sky

How could I ever really know
How you feel when you're alone
I'm out working on the road
Trying to send a little money home Are you wearing different clothes
And if I saw you would I know
That you've been flirting with a ghost
I'll let your reasons be your own I wouldn't blame you if you go
Back to someplace that you know
We'd keep you warm when you get cold
You know that I'd respect your choice You've been worried about your man
Living so far from your home
And ain't it sad when life becomes
That all you know is what you've done
