Choose Your Fate

Story of the Year

Liar, slipped from the tongue Like the breath of a prophet Cloaked in blood, kissed with a bomb

From the heart of the flawless number oneIn a home that's broken and silent

The truth will not be heard

In the forceful roar of a tyrant

Freedom is a loaded wordCompliance this morbid code

Leaves the carcass a feast for the corrupt

Where power is love blind allegiance is warmly smiled uponIn a place where thought is abandoned

Freedom can become a curseYeah, beggar, choose your fate

The reaction, the reaction is awake

So choose your fate

The reaction, the reaction is awake Cause when the meaning fails to be objectified

Lies will carry through

Until you see them staring from the other side

Back at you, back at youNow, now, now they will try to sell you

For all you're worth, for all you're worthYeah, when the meaning fails to be objectified

(To be objectified)

Their lies will stare back at you from the other side (From the other side) Yeah, yeah, beggar, choose your fate

The reaction, the reaction is awake

So choose your fate

The reaction, the reaction is awake Yeah, awake, yeah, awake

Choose your own, own fate, awake

Reaction is awake, yeah

Liar, liar, liar, liar

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/