Connect

Sick Puppies

There's a thousand miles between us
As I feel your breath on my skin
There are so many things I want to say
But I don't know how to beginI want to connect with you
Over the oceans and back to the truth
I want to connect with youI'm standing right beside you
Screaming in my head
I don't know how to reach you
I shut down instead
When all I want to do is connect with youThe silence is defining
Your heartbeat's been heard from next door
I knock but no answer
You know I've never done this beforeI want to connect with you
Over the oceans and back to the truth
I want to connect with youI'm standing right beside you
Screaming in my head
I don't know how to reach you
I shut down instead
When all I want to do is connect with youDistance can be measured by
The pain you feel inside your heart
We could be together
Or be five million miles apart
But that wouldn't stop meI want to connect with you
Over the oceans and back to the truth
I want to connect with youI'm standing right beside you
Screaming in my head
I don't know how to reach you
I shut down instead
When all I want to do is connect with you
