Distant Sun

The Deadlights

Tell me all the things you would change
I don't pretend to know what you want
When you come around and spin my top
Time and again, time and againNo fire where I lit my spark
I am not afraid of the dark
Where your words devour my heart
And put me to shame, put me to shameWhen your seven worlds collide
Whenever I am by your side
The dust from a distant sun
Will shower over everyoneYour still so young to travel so far
Old enough to know who you are
Wise enough to carry the scars
Without any blame, there's no one to blameIt's easy to forget what you learned
Waiting for the thrill to return
Feelin' your desire burn
And drawn to the flameWhen your seven worlds collide
Whenever I am by your side
The dust from a distant sun
Will shower over everyoneThe dust from a distant sun
Will shower over everyoneAnd I'm lying on the table
Washed out in a flood
Like a Christian fearing vengeance from above
I can't pretend to know what you want but I offer loveSeven worlds will collide
Whenever I am by your side
The dust from a distant sun
Will shower over everyoneAs time slips by [Incomprehensible]
As time slips by
[Incomprehensible]
