What's Behind

Normal Like You

Finally, the way i carry myself comes naturally but i don't understand how i can change when you're around me something's wrong release this vice, 'cause i'm frustrated and..i can't keep hiding in this smile.
i can try to for a little longer.
i can't stop lying to myself.i'm stuck between
these lines i'm drawing.
i can't keep crying.
it's your brown eyes that keep me here. Its your eyes that keep me here.i'm stalling, but i'm not trying to.
there must be something else that i can do to keep you here.
forgive me, i don't know how to act
when you're near me something pulls me back.
you say you feel the way i do, i don't see it.i can't keep hiding in this smile.
i can try to for a little longer.
i can't stop lying to myself. Myself..i'm lost again.
i'm sick of searching.
i can't keep lying.
it's your brown eyes that keep me here. Its your eyes that keep me here.but behind those eyes there's something more.
i'm falling for more than just another pretty face.
i adore you so, soo...i'm stuck between
these lines i'm drawing.
i can't keep crying.
it's your brown eyes that keep me here. Its your eyes that keep me here.i'm lost again.
i'm sick of searching.
i can't keep lying.
it's your brown eyes that keep me here. Its your eyes that keep me here.

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/