

Chains

Mercury Rev

I remember their faces, I remember their stares

I remember how wasted you were in there When I know you want it and I know you care

And I know you feel it and I know it's there You were speaking to no one, I called your name

You were looking for something without any chains When I know you want it and I know you care

And I know you feel it and I know it's there I was talking to someone, you pulled me aside

You were telling me something that I couldn't buy When I know you want it and I know you care

And I know you feel it and I know it's there When I know you want it and I know you care

And I know you feel it and I know it's there
