

Morton's Fork

Typhoon

I told you, no, I'll keep you safe
When the sun will expand to consume
Our house in flames
I thought we live forever
A simple obstacle in the way

(Let it go, let it go, let it go)

Turns out that we are shit out of luck
There are things in the woods
That will prey on the things that we love
And will come through the fold
This is the sound of a wild pack of hungry wolves

I won't lie to you
It'll be painful
It's in your nature to fear what is natural

And the sun
will explode
And not before you and everyone that you'll ever know
Will be gone long ago
We are alone in this together
All alone in this together all alone

I haven't slept in several nights
And I'm not tired
Who protects the ones I love when I'm asleep?
Though there's little I can do
I say a prayer
That when the wolves come for their share
They come for me

A-wooo...

A-wooo...

Lyrics submitted by Steven Elliott.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>