

Alone And Forsaken

WYLDFYRE

We met in the springtime when the blossoms unfold
The pastures were green and the meadows were gold
    Our love was in flower as summer grew on
Her love like the leaves, now have withered and gone
    The roses have faded, there's frost at my door
    The birds in the morning don't sing anymore
    The grass in the valley is starting to die
    And out in the darkness the Whippoorwills cry
    Alone and forsaken by fate and by man
    Oh Lord, if you hear me, please hold my hand
        Oh, please understand
    Oh where has she gone to, oh, where can she be?
    She may have forsaken some other like me
    She promised to honor, to love and obey
    Each vow was a plaything that she threw away
    Alone and forsaken by fate and by man
    Oh Lord, if you hear me, please hold my hand
        Oh, please understand
    The darkness has fallen, the sky has turned gray
    The hound in the distance is starting to bay
    I wonder, I wonder what she's thinking of Forsaken, forgotten without any love
    Alone and forsaken by fate and by man
    Oh Lord, if you hear me, please hold my hand
        Oh, please understand
    Alone and forsaken by fate and by man
    Oh Lord, if you hear me, please hold my hand
        Oh, please understand
        Oh, please understand
        Oh, please understand
