

Man On A Mission

Peter Cincotti

    Ringing phone wakes you up, pulling you away
    I forgot the end of the world was scheduled for today
    Tell 'em you got things to do and one of them is me
Tell 'em that you got the flu, ah tell 'em anything I'm a man who's on a mission
    Waking up the woman sleeping in your eyes
    Oh, I got a very strong suspicion
    This could be the day that she's ready and she's waiting
So tell her it's okay to come on out and play Look at you crawling back, smiling like a cat
    Atta girl you ought to be proud blowing 'em off like that Forget about what's on your mind, forget about your hair
Put your little hands in mine, ah put 'em anywhere I'm a man who's on a mission
    Waking up the woman sleeping in your eyes
    Oh, I got a very strong suspicion
    This could be the day that she's ready and she's waiting
So tell her it's okay to come on out and play And I don't wanna talk today
    Let's put the words away
    Words don't matter anyway
    For what I wanna say
    What I wanna say Put your mind into neutral
Close your eyes and just be Kama Sutra For where I wanna go
    You don't need a map to read
    We'll find our way there naturally
    And when your body is in motion
We can just sit back and let it lead the way I'm a man who's on a mission
    Waking up the woman sleeping in your eyes
    Oh, I got a very strong suspicion
    This could be the day that she's ready and she's waiting
So tell her it's okay to come on out and play I'm a man who's on a mission
    Waking up the woman sleeping in your eyes
    Oh, I got a very strong suspicion
    This could be the day
So tell her it's okay to come on out and play Man who's on a mission

Songwriters

Cincotti, Peter M / Bettis, John Published by

Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC, Universal Music Publishing Group Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnyrics.com/>