

Thank God for Pain

Big & Rich

Crushed
Smoked
Twisted up and burned like a cigarette
Tossed away in the rain with no regret
I've been drying on the bad side of a goodbye
One fall away from the edge when you kissed me back to life Thank God for pain
'Cause I never would have known that love could feel this way
And I know it sounds insane but thank God for scars
'Cause every jagged little one got me closer to where we are
And if I hadn't been ripped apart
I never would have kissed your face
Thank God for pain I was left
I was lost
Heart broke down and out of luck
I was used, all confused
I was covered up in black and blue
If I'd never known that hurt or felt that misery
I'd never known baby how much you mean to me Thank God for pain
'Cause I never would have known that love could feel this way
And I know it sounds insane but thank God for scars
'Cause every jagged little one got me closer to where we are
And if I hadn't been ripped apart
I never would have kissed your face
Thank God for pain
