Complacent Race

Twiddle

It's part of my Simplicity
Wired electricity
Breeding our society
To lust for more than what we need
Drowning in hypocrisy
Doubting our democracy
Still fighting for equality
So you can live the way you pleaseYea, cause life keeps on changing
And my mind keeps rearranging
All my thoughts become a patient to my cause
And if everybody's aging
And the love ones keep escaping
Then my time becomes a victim of my plause
Anger boiling up in me
Tearing at my sanity
Aim towards authority for standing up for my beliefs
Strengthen my ability
Give the words bestowed on me
Sadness and the poverty
Our country wants no one to seeYea, cause life keeps on changing
And my mind keeps rearranging
All my thoughts become a patient to the cause
And if everybody's aging
And the loved ones keep escaping
Then my time becomes a victim of my plause
If I could
Face all the pace
And Empace all the race
And Erase all the hate
And replace all the blaming
Forgive not forgetting
It starts with a feeling
There's one understanding
That love is appealingIf everyone could spend a week
Starving without food to eat
Maybe it would kill our greed
To give some love to those who need
To push past all adversity

with unabashed ferocity
A great responsibility
To take care of humanityAnd life keeps changing
And my mind keeps rearranging
All my thought become a patient to the cause
And if everybody's aging
And the love ones keep escaping
Then my time becomes a victim of my plauseIf I could
Face all the pace
That love is appealingIts deep in our being
To care for the weaklings
To give what is needed
This world needs a healing
This love understanding
That we are demanding
A better reaction
For all who are livingIf everyone would just agree
To live and give with empathy
Embrace the world's diversity
Were all the same race underneath
Our greed can breed complacency
Material conspiracy
Live to love the common breed
So we can all relax and dreamAnd life keeps changing
And my mind keeps rearranging
All my thought become a victim of my cause
And if everybodys aging
And the love ones keep escaping
Then my time becomes a victim of my plauseIf I could
Face all the pace
And replace all the blame
Theres one undertstanding
That love is appealing
Its deep in our being

To give what is needed
Its love understanding
That we are demanding
A better reaction
For all who are living
