Atreyu

Go runaway in distress
Trying to hide from what's Creeping and crawling and stabbing within
Try to deny the turmoil inside
If you find yourself far enough you'll never win
In the ounce of serenity I will come home, be pissed
(I will come home, be pissed)
Can't leave you weeping on the phone
Gasping for breath
(I am gasping for breath)
To be left on the floor gasping for breath! No he's not the person you are
Or the person you're trying
(Trying, trying, trying to be)
Don't let the outside swing too far
From where you want to be We are heading for moments of this
You can roll with the best
Where's your body, you're brutally pressed
Against the confines of your dead flesh And if you close your eyes tight enough (Then none of the bad can get, then none of the bad can get in)
And if you close your eyes tight enough
(Then none of the light can get, then none of the light can get in)
The lights can't get in, the lights can't get in You scream as the light hits you
And radiates upon your whole soul
The pain is burning and cleanses anything
Still fucking hurts and you're still fucking down That you are still alone
(That you are still in control
Don't know where to go)
The day we're all dead
Underground's back took a chance to outlive your past
Where you will be free
Where you will be free No he's not the person you are
Or the person you're trying
(Trying, trying, trying to be)
Don't let the outside swing too far
From where you want to be No he's not the person you are
Or the person you're trying
Trying, trying, trying to be
Don't let the outside swing too far
From where you want to be
